INDONESIA

This Wonderful Indonesia Scale-up Hub (WISH) 2026 catalogue is dedicated to those who believe that true travel is not merely about moving from one place to another, but rather a process of absorbing meaning.

Within it, twenty-five of the finest experiential tourism products, curated by WISH 2026, are organized into three main categories: Cultural Heritage, Gastronomy, and Wellness – three facets of Indonesian tourism that complement one another and weave together a complete narrative of travel. Similarly, in this catalogue we present the works in sequence, with interwoven narratives.

Welcome to a new chapter in Indonesia's tourism journey – a country rich in cultural heritage, the diverse flavors of its archipelago, and a wisdom in maintaining health that stems from the land and ancestral traditions. From the ancient temples of Bali, the palaces of Sumatra and Java, the historic towns of Kalimantan, the traditions of nature conservation in Sulawesi and Papua, right through to the legendary spices that infuse every traditional regional dish, Indonesia offers an experience that is not merely seen, but also felt, savored and taken home as part of a spiritual journey, a journey of personal growth, leisure, and the restoration of the soul from the weariness of everyday life.

Cultural heritage, gastronomy and wellness are not three separate elements. They are intertwined, forming a cohesive tourism ecosystem. A traditional herbal bathing ritual offers a glimpse into the local community's philosophy of life. A plate of indigenous fare or a dish of rendang prepared according to a time-honored recipe serves as a bridge connecting the stories of different generations. Traditional arts and the preservation of the natural environment, still safeguarded by the community, stand as living testaments to the enduring identity of the Indonesian nation, which continues to thrive alongside modernization.

Through the Wonderful Indonesia Scale-up Hub, 25 selected tour operators and travel agents are at the forefront of this transformation. They are not merely sellers of holiday packages, but curators of experiences who connect global travelers with the pulse of local communities, including local communities, farmers, craftspeople, traditional tour guides, culinary artisans and MSME operators. Every tourism product they offer is designed with the principles of cultural preservation and sustainability in mind, ensuring that tourism growth does not come at the expense of cultural heritage, but rather continues to provide the energy and vitality needed to ensure its sustainability supports the livelihoods of communities, stakeholders and the wider ecosystem.

This is a tangible example of how Indonesia's tourism sector contributes to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs): creating meaningful jobs, empowering local communities, preserving the environment, and building an inclusive and equitable economy. Every tourist visit represents an investment in the future of the country's culture and the well-being of its people.

Through the synergy of cultural beauty, culinary richness and the tranquility of wellness, Indonesia stands ready to welcome the world – not merely as a destination, but as a home for experiences that transform perspectives, heal the soul and forge lasting cross-cultural bonds. We invite partners, investors and travelers from around the world to browse this catalogue as an invitation to follow the path of tradition that the Indonesian people have walked for generations, a path that is now open to be shared with the world. Enjoy exploring the Wonderful Indonesia 2026 Catalogue, where cultural heritage, culinary delights and wellness come together in harmony.

FOREWORD FROM

Widiyanti Putri Wardhana

Minister of Tourism,
Republic of Indonesia

Across the archipelago, Indonesia's richness is reflected in the ways communities live, create, and preserve their heritage. Cultural Heritage, Gastronomy, and Wellness offer distinctive pathways into this vibrant landscape, each revealing a unique dimension of the country. The Wonderful Indonesia Scale-up Hub (WISH) 2026 Catalogue presents 25 selected experiences that highlight the places, local wisdom, and living traditions that give Indonesia its distinctive character.

Today's travellers, whether rediscovering familiar destinations or exploring from afar, increasingly seek depth, authenticity, and meaningful experiences. WISH responds to these evolving aspirations by showcasing curated offerings rooted in a clear sense of place. For industry partners and investors, this catalogue serves as a platform to develop high-value products that resonate across local and global markets alike.

Beyond memorable journeys, tourism plays a vital role in creating shared value. By connecting unique destination experiences with broader economic opportunities, WISH empowers local enterprises, strengthens community livelihoods, and encourages the preservation of essential cultural and natural foundations. Through the Ministry of Tourism, this initiative reflects Indonesia's continued commitment to advancing tourism that creates value for destinations, communities, and the wider economy.

WISH is an invitation for travellers, industry leaders, and partners to explore new possibilities across the world. May this catalogue inspire meaningful connections, foster global partnerships, and spark journeys that bring people closer to Indonesia's living heritage, distinctive flavours, and traditions of well-being.

Tourism trends continue to shift, shaped by changing traveller preferences, emerging destinations, and new patterns of business. This calls for a tourism industry that is responsive, innovative, and able to translate market developments into viable opportunities. WISH 2026 is designed within this context, bringing together selected tourism businesses across Cultural Heritage, Gastronomy, and Wellness, and strengthening their capacity to respond to the changing landscape of tourism.

The strength of a tourism product is closely linked to the readiness of the business behind it. Through curation, assessment, and focused mentoring, WISH supports participating enterprises in sharpening their business direction, strengthening their capabilities, and preparing for broader market opportunities. The 25 businesses featured in this catalogue represent a range of distinctive tourism propositions, with the potential to grow through stronger positioning, improved business practices, and wider market reach.

As these businesses move towards greater market readiness, WISH creates a valuable bridge between tourism potential and wider business opportunities. By giving promising enterprises greater visibility and opportunities to connect, the programme encourages new partnerships and investment, while supporting the growth of a more resilient tourism industry.

WISH represents a strategic step in supporting the businesses that shape Indonesia tourism industry. We hope this initiative will continue to grow as a catalyst for connection, collaboration, and business development, helping tourism enterprises move forward with greater confidence. May WISH continue to bring together distinctive Indonesian experiences and the opportunities that can help them grow.

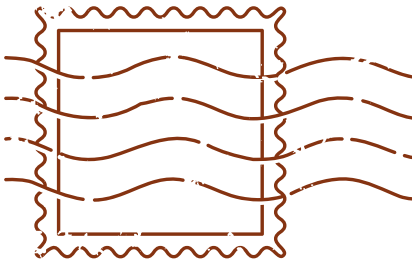
Prambanan Temple, Heritage in Stone

Prambanan is more than heritage carved in stone. It is a living landscape shaped by generations of artisans, communities, and traditions that have grown alongside the temple for centuries. From the hands that preserve ancestral craftsmanship to the people who continue to live, work, and create around it, Prambanan reflects a resilient ecosystem where heritage, culture, nature, and community remain deeply connected.

Cultural Heritage

Walking Through Living History



Cultural Heritage

Walking Through Living History

This is the largest group, comprising twelve Cultural Heritage experiential tourism products spanning from Sumatera to West Papua. Roemah Martha Tilaar preserves the history of traditional Indonesian beauty practices that have gained international renown, while Bali Sun Tours and Travelavina bring to life Indonesia's spiritual, maritime, and local wisdom heritage. WisataSekolah introduce history through educational pathways for young people in Bali turning tourism into a living heritage class. Travel Papua opens a gateway to an authentic Eastern Indonesia, where traditional customs continue to be practised as they always have been. Neira Explorer Journey takes travellers through the Banda Islands, silent witnesses to the world's ancient spice routes, while Balikpapan Tempo Doeloe, Langlang Lasem, Tilik Mburi preserve heritage site and townscapes from being forgotten. Artha Bayu Wisata, Deva Voyages, and Jelajah Sultra, complete this group with a wealth of local heritage from Java, Bali, Sulawesi.

This broad geographical coverage is no coincidence; rather, it represents an awareness that Indonesia's cultural heritage is pluralistic and spread evenly across the country. The distinctiveness of this category lies in the notion that the preservation of tangible and intangible cultural heritage is a dynamic process. Cultural-heritage-based tourism products revive landscapes and trade routes as spaces that continue to be inhabited and reinterpreted, while also integrating education for younger generations as a strategy for the transmission of knowledge.

This trend aligns with the global shift in heritage tourism towards living heritage, in which the involvement of local communities is key to sustainability. For Indonesia, this category has the potential to strengthen the country's position as a cultural heritage tourism destination that is not only rich in artefacts but also alive in the everyday practices of its people, while extending the benefits of tourism more evenly to regions that have so far received less exposure.

Sacred Waters: Subak and Tri Hita Karana

Behind Bali's iconic terraced rice fields lies a living heritage that has preserved the delicate balance between people, nature, and spirituality for more than a thousand years.

Water flowing from sacred springs makes its way to the rice fields, shared equitably through the Subak irrigation system. It nourishes crops and communities before returning to the rivers, completing a continuous cycle of life.

Recognized as a UNESCO World Heritage Site since 2012, this living tradition continues through generations who grow, work, and live among the rice fields. Hear its story through the eyes of a village child who knows every waterway, landscape, and tradition as part of everyday life, while exploring the Tegallalang Rice Terraces, Pura Gunung Kawi Sebatu, and Tegenungan Waterfall.

The Tradition of Jenang Making

Discover the tradition of Jenang making, where Indonesian gastronomy comes alive through taste, memory, and community. More than a traditional sweet, Jenang embodies foodways as living heritage, carrying knowledge, techniques, rituals, and stories passed down through generations. Through hands-on experiences with local food communities, travellers can taste Indonesia's cultural diversity while supporting the people who continue to nurture, practise, and preserve these culinary traditions.

Gastronomy

Tasting Indonesia, One Story at a Time

The eight participants in the Gastronomy category present Indonesia as a nation that speaks through flavour. Bring Back The Light in Bali transforms dinner amid a firefly conservation site into an experience that is both poetic and sustainable. TempeGo Experience elevates tempeh, a world food heritage originating from Indonesia, into a vehicle for education and a source of national pride. Omah Jenang keeps the ancestral jenang recipes of East Java alive amid the currents of modernisation, while Siak Riverland and Bros Wisata carry the flavours of Riau and North Sumatra along rivers and in the footsteps of the historic spice trade. Nature & Soul of Ranah Minang unites the natural landscape of West Sumatra with the spice-rich philosophy of Minang cuisine, while Dewa Wisata Asinan and Garut Walking Tour present the distinctive cuisines of Central Java and West Java as a gateway to understanding the daily life and character of their communities.

The Gastronomy category presents eight experiential tourism products as a living archive of the history of trade, migration, and cultural blending across the archipelago. Each dish is read not merely as a product for consumption, but as a cultural text recording the relationship between people and nature, philosophies of life, and the traces of the spice routes that shaped Indonesian civilization. These tourism product also demonstrates how communities preserve traditional foodways as living heritage.

The distinctiveness of these products lies in the emphasis placed on process and the narrative behind the food, rather than on the final flavour alone. The growth of gastronomy tourism in Indonesia reflects a global trend in which travellers increasingly seek authentic and meaningful culinary experiences, rather than mere tasting. With a geographical diversity spanning from Western to Eastern Indonesia, this category affirms that Indonesian gastronomy is an effective medium for showcasing cultural diversity while also driving the creative economy.
